SPX SWE Explorer's Post

On April 12, we had our final Explorer's Post. The girls learned about SPX, the company's history, and what type of engineering they do day-to-day from four different female engineers. The girls were able to witness a live experiment in their R&D lab as well as a guided tour through the factory to view the process on how to make their specialized pumps. Thank you Casey Daggett for organizing this great event for SWE. This concludes our Explorer's Post program for this academic year, but we look forward to planning for next year's new recruits! We sincerely appreciate all the time and effort all the contributing companies, engineers, and colleges provided to make this program a great success. Your enthusiasm inspires young women and students everywhere to pursue a career in STEM. Thank you!

Congratulations to the new & returning leadership for
SWE Rochester!
